Notice.
Patrons of THE DAILY JOURNAL are respectfully notified that bills against employees of this office and individual accounts will not be allowed in settlement of our accounts. All employees of this office are paid weekly and no accounts are kept with them. No claims against the company will be allowed except upon the written order of C. M. Shultz, business manager.

GOSSIP OF THE STREET.

Palace coaches were plentiful at the depot last night.

Runaways are getting to be quite common in the city.

The Board of County Commissioners meet this morning.

Don't forget the concert on Friday night at the M. E. church.

About twenty men were sent out to work on the Atlantic & Pacific road last evening.

D. Goldenberg leaves for the east as far as New York city to-morrow morning to purchase a new stock of goods.

The heavy wind storm prevented many from attending the confirmation services held at St. John's last evening.

The Pacific smelter at Copper City started up last Tuesday and the first run is reported to have been very successful.

A meeting of the trustees of the Albuquerque Academy will be held this morning at 10 o'clock at Judge Hazledine's office.

A public meeting will be held this morning at 10 o'clock in the old town, during which resolutions on the death of the late Jose L. Perea will be passed.

R. C. Capell, representing T. M. Atwood of Chicago, reports having taken fifty orders for gentlemen suits during the week. A pretty good showing on the young men's part for good taste in selecting clothes.

One of the largest shipments of goods that ever arrived in this Territory, by express, came in on last evening's train from the north. It consisted of all kinds of merchandise, fruit, eggs, butter, paper, tobacco and cigars.

The reason for not holding the public meeting to take action on the death of Jose Perea in new town, is said to be because Mr. Perea never new the new town. The Albuquerque he knew was the old town and it therefore seemed more appropriate to hold the meeting there.

Notwithstanding the unpleasantness of the evening, quite a large congregation assembled at St. John's church last night, to hear Bishop Danlop. The Bishop delivered an excellent and practical sermon from the first and second verses of the sixth chapter of the epistle to the Hebrews. At the close of the sermon, four candidates for confirmation came forward. There were four members of the class—Miss Minnie Codrington, Miss Ella Burris, Mr. F. H. Snowden and Mr. W. Walker.

Considerable excitement was created on Railroad avenue yesterday, by a runaway team. The horses belonged to Mr. J. B. Block, and were hitched to a heavy transfer wagon. Considerable damage was done to the trees in front of John Boyle's hotel, two of them being utterly ruined. A tall post in which a light was placed, was completely demolished. The horses were caught in front of Jaffa Bros., and were found to have sustained no injury beyond one or two small cuts.

Burglars entered the saloon on Second street, owned by John Brady, on Tuesday night, and stole $10 in cash, 300 fine cigars and several bottles of liquor. Mr. Brady knew nothing about the burglary until he opened out yesterday morning. He at once notified the officers of the case. Last evening Chief of Police Howe arrested two men, Henry Wilson and A. A. Wilhelm, for the theft. These men were arrested while trying to sell a lot of fine cigars to a saloon keeper on Front street. They will have a hearing before Justice Sullivan at 10 o'clock.

A tourist party consisting of N. C. Chapman and wife, St. Louis; Edward P. Allis and wife, Milwaukee; B. C. Gilbert and wife, Albany, N. Y.; J. T. Gilbert, Milwaukee; F. Gilbert, Eau Claire, Wis.; N. P. Hulst, Milwaukee; Mrs. Taylor, Boston; Miss Colt, Pittsfield, Mass.; and Miss Allen, St. Louis, in charge of W. H. Holabird, passenger agent A. T. & S. F. R. R., Chicago, arrived last evening from the north in special car "Belgie." They went west on the Atlantic & Pacific to Peach Springs station Wednesday night. The party will visit the grand canyon of the Colorado, Mineral Park, the pine district and various other points of interest en route. General Passenger Agent Williams accompanies them over his line. Returning they visit Guaymas, on the Sonora railway, Los Angeles and other coast points. It is a grand tour, and we are proud to announce to them that the Grand canyon is in all probability the world's greatest wonder, and now for the first time accessible. Doubtless it will be visited by thousands in the near future. We trust they will find time to take in the metropolis and future capital of the territory, Albuquerque.

A PATRIARCH'S PALL.

The Funeral Obsequies of Jose Leandro Perea at Bernalillo Yesterday.

THE IMPOSING BURIAL SERVICES.

The House of Death and the Place of Repose—The Deceased and His Family.

A memorable event occurred at Bernalillo yesterday, an event in which the whole Territory claims an interest, and THE JOURNAL with its usual enterprise dispatched a representative to report. The burial of such a man as Jose Leandro Perea is worthy of more than passing and brief notice. He stood foremost of the prominent natives of the Territory, and his dropping out of their ranks will be felt.

THE DECEASED

had for several years past been suffering with a combination of stomach and liver disorders, which culminated in his death Monday afternoon. He had been aware of his critical condition for some days before his death; had placed his worldly affairs in order and summoned to him his spiritual advisers. His death, while sudden, and his physicians and his family, with the exception of one daughter, who was attending school in St. Louis, stood by his bedside in the last moment. The news that Jose Leandro Perea was dead went over the Territory in a day, and although the interval between his death and his funeral was short, Bernalillo was crowded yesterday with those who came to see the final act in the life of this powerful citizen of New Mexico. The population of the town began to swell upon the arrival of the morning train yesterday and continued to increase as the day wore on, until, when 10 o'clock, the hour for the commencement of the funeral exercises arrived.

NEARLY TWO THOUSAND PEOPLE were gathered together to participate in and look upon them. The solemn tolling of the bell of the cathedral, built by the dead man, called the people to the house where lay his corpse, and a stirring yet sombre scene was the result. Vehicles in great number drove up to the house, discharging their occupants. Many more horses stood around having dismounted their riders, and a steady stream of pedestrians flowed toward the Perea house from the town and country.

ALBUQUERQUE HAD a rather smaller delegation than might have been expected. There were Judge L. S. Trimble, M. J. Mack, W. S. Stone, William Arenz, Charles Bonnell, Sheriff Perfecto Armijo, Elias Armijo, Captain John Borradale, Major Melchior Werner, Thomas Post, Serapio Romero, Francisco Armijo y Otero, Pedro Sandoval, Jesus Armijo, Nicolas Armijo, and only a few others. From Santa Fe there came Col. W. W. Griffin, of the First National Bank, Solomon Spiegelberg, Antonio Ortiz y Salazar, August Kirschner, Felipe Delgado, P. F. Heriow and Vasario Gonzales. Several came from Las Vegas, quite a number from the northern counties of the territory, while the villages of Bernalillo county must have been depopulated by the deputations they sent. Roman A. Baca, of San Mateo, was there, as was also Hon. Tranquillo Luna.

AS THE VISITORS ARRIVED at the house they were met by Hon. M. S. Otero or Justo Armijo and welcomed. A few were taken into the room where sat the grief-stricken family, and still fewer were conducted into the presence of the dead. Of these latter THE JOURNAL reporter was. The remains lay in a costly casket sent from this city, the arms folded with a crucifix in the face natural and calm, with no trace of the agony that had lately distorted it.

TEN O'CLOCK CAME, and with it a delegation of priests and acolytes, whose approach announced to those waiting that the funeral ceremonies were about to commence, the six acolytes advanced, one bearing a cross and the others swinging censers that perfumed the air, into the room where stood the coffin on its bier, the priests following, Father Paris led them, and Fathers Gentile, superior of the Jesuit Fathers, Tomassin and Jourci and Massa of Albuquerque, came after.

AS THEY APPROACHED the bier they broke into a chant—the blessing of the church upon the corpse. They ceased and the pall bearers advanced, W. W. Griffin, Hon. Tranquillo Luna, Solomon Spiegelberg, Nicolas Armijo, Felipe Delgado, Vasario Gonzales, Antonio Ortiz y Salazar and Francisco Chaves, 24, these lifted the coffin, and, preceded by the body of priests and acolytes

CHANTING THE MISERERE, carried it out to the hearse, which had in the meantime been brought to the door of the house. The funeral procession was then formed in the following order:

- 1.—Young girls from the convent.
- 2.—Priests and Acolytes.
- 3.—Hearse.
- 4.—Pall-bearers.
- 5.—General procession on foot.

6.—Boys from the Bernalillo College.

7.—Carriages.

In this way the procession moved towards the church where the funeral services were to be held and where the body was to be buried, the monotonous chant of the priests being heard at intervals. The procession, from the head of the column of convent girls, to the last carriage, was fully half a mile long, possibly more.

RIGHT STOPS WERE MADE

between the house of the deceased and the church, the residence of each of the Perea family lying on the road being thus honored, and each being marked by a solemn benediction for the dead, chanted by the priests. At the entrance of the church, the hearse was dismissed; the coffin carried in and placed on a bier in front of the altar which had been arranged, and the procession broke up and procured seats in the church, filling it almost beyond standing-room. This altar had been built with a design to the gravest impressiveness, being composed of eleven tiers, each flashing with wax lights and the ordinary church altar had been likewise arranged. The effect bore evidence that the attempt of those who attended to these details had been successful, and reverence for the scene and the occasion hushed the voices and softened the steps of even the most careless as they came within the portals of the sacred edifice.

FORMING A SEMI-CIRCLE

about the coffin as soon as the pall-bearers had placed it upon its bier, the attending priests began the recitation of Matins, after which high mass was proceeded with, Brothers Diego, Gabriel and Rafael, of the Christian Brothers of Bernalillo, assisting. A most eloquent and impassioned eulogy upon the character of the dead man was then delivered in Spanish by Father Gentile, who, as well as Father Paris, had been his intimate friend. The speaker was fluent, rapid and earnest, and relieved the hearers of much of the weariness which the length of the funeral services—over two hours—had imposed upon them. He spoke of the faults of his subject, but thought they might justly be condoned by his honesty and generosity.

AT THE CONCLUSION

of his address, the priests and acolytes left the church altar which they had occupied since the reciting of Matins and advanced again to the bier, encircling which the "Libera Me Domine," was sung, and preparations were made for the final disposal of the remains. A portion of the floor of the church had been removed; an excavation made, and into this, then, the coffin was lowered, while the burial "Blessings of the Grave" was chanted by the priests. Then the casket of earth was thrown upon the coffin; a benediction bestowed upon the congregation by Father Paris and it dispersed.

A BRIEF SKETCH of the life of Jose Leandro Perea was given by THE JOURNAL yesterday. He was born in 1823 in Bernalillo and lived there all of his life. He had been married twice, of the first wife he leaves six sons, Jesus Maria, Mariano, Pedro, Benicio, Jose L. and Jacobo, and six daughters, Josefa, Solidad, Filomena, Beatrice, Cesario and Barbara. By his second wife he had three children, of whom only one survives, Jose, segundo. He leaves property which is computed by his relatives at about $750,000, that already held by his sons and daughters being estimated at over $250,000. What disposal he has made of his possessions by will is not known even by his children, as that document is supposed to be in the hands of T. B. Catron, his lawyer, who is now in Colorado. The relatives indignantly deny the report which has gained some little circulation in Albuquerque, to the effect that there has been quarrelling among them already over the division of the property.

JOSE L. PEREA

was a remarkable man in all respects. A naturally strong, brave mind was improved by opportunity until he attained that influence which gave him the political and civil prominence he held at the time of his death. His enemies were bitter and his friends bound to him by hooks of steel. Ambitious for himself and his was, but the ambition never sought its end by meanness or dishonesty. Living, he was a target for attack; dead, he has had nothing but good said of him.

Mohave County Miner vs. B. Moses.

OFFICE OF MINING COMMISSIONER, ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., 1883.

To the Miners of New Mexico and Arizona, and all others whom it may concern:

Having been appointed by the association a mining commissioner for the Territory of New Mexico, in Santa Fe, to prepare for exhibition a collection of ores and objects of interest illustrative of the antiquity and mineral wealth of our two great Territories, I respectfully and earnestly call upon you to aid me in this worthy cause. You can materially further this work and draw the attention of capitalists to your respective districts, by sending in such specimens as you have, to my address.

Large pieces of ore are preferred for many palpable reasons, and each specimen ought to be labeled, as to its locality, the name of the mine, extent of development, assays and the name of the owner. If possible, please furnish clearly written with ink, a brief description of the mine from which the specimen is taken, its distance from the nearest railroad, together with a few notes and figures concerning the general resources of the district.

If all this is not practicable, send the labeled specimens at any rate. All exhibits should be sent in at once as the collection must be entire in readiness before the 1st of June.

B. Moses, Commissioner.

The substance of the above circular appeared in THE JOURNAL several weeks ago—but for the benefit of the miners of Mineral Park mining district and of Arizona generally, we now give it in full. In the "Mohave County Miner" of the issue of April 1, there appeared an article on the great exposition, the Tertio-Millennial, of Santa Fe, written by some ignorant who does not read the papers of New Mexico. He warns the miners of Mineral Park not to send specimens in answer to the above circular, but to wait and find out if the proposed exhibition is not some private scheme, gotten up for the purpose of securing fine mineral specimens without cost or trouble. Of the Tertio-Millennial itself, it is unnecessary here to say anything, as every man in both Arizona and New Mexico, except "The Mohave County Miner," know all about it. But of the gentleman, a prominent and responsible citizen of Albuquerque, and one of our leading business men, by whom these circulars were sent out, we have a few words to say. Col. B. Moses is a duly appointed commissioner to collect curiosities and mineral specimens for the great show, to take place in Santa Fe. He has full and complete authority for calling upon the miner for such specimens of their minerals as they choose to send. He does not desire to add to his own excellent mineral cabinet by these free contributions, but at his own expense has ordered secure and strong cases to be made in which the specimens sent can be safely kept. Any miner contributing to this collection returned after the exhibition is over.

Col. Moses, although in business in Albuquerque, has large interests in Mineral Park, as well, indeed, the largest portion of his possessions are in Mineral Park mines. We trust the miners of Arizona will at once second Col. Moses' efforts to make his department a grand success by sending at once the desired specimens.

County Commissioners.

The meeting of the board of county commissioners that was to have been held yesterday afternoon was postponed until 10 o'clock this morning. Commissioner Chaves was unable to be present at the meeting, and on account of his absence the board held over. Another matter of business that was most likely come before the board, is to inquire into the recent return made on taxable property. The return of every taxpayer in the county will be looked into and carefully examined and wherever the board finds an estimate that is thought to be too low, the name will be placed aside for special investigation. It is thought that many persons have not made a return of even one-third of the true value of their taxable property.

It has been found also from the return list that there are thousands of acres of land in the county for which no owner can be found—land upon which no one is paying taxes. Wherever an instance of this kind is found the property will be published for sale, and unless the real owner comes forward and pays the tax due, the land will be sold.

Owing to the present low price of county warrants, and the heavy indebtedness of the county, the commissioners are determined to get hold of every dollar that justly belongs to the county, regardless of the individuals affected by their researches. The Yarbey case cost the county $4000, and the small cop $2000 more. The commissioners propose in the course of a very few days to publish a correct and full account of the financial condition of the Bernalillo county—show how much money has been received during their term of office, and to whom and for what it has been paid. At the end of every three months they propose to make the county affairs public in this way.

The petition ordering an election to move the county seat of Bernalillo county from Bernalillo to Albuquerque, will be presented this morning. Late last night the petition had 1100 signatures. The election to vote upon the removal of the county seat will undoubtedly be ordered.

Gen. Crook in Town.

Gen. George Crook, commanding the district of Arizona passed yesterday in the city. Gen. Crook is a very pleasant, entertaining gentleman, ready to give information to the news men, when he has any. Gen. Crook stopped over in town on his way from Prescott to Wilcox, in Arizona. There are only three regiments of regular troops in Arizona, two of cavalry and one of infantry. These are kept constantly in the field. Gen. Crook says the recent raid through Arizona, during which Judge H. C. McComas and wife, with ten other persons were murdered, was made by only fifteen Indian bucks, with a few squaws. All the killing was done by these fifteen. They were Chiricahua Apaches, who came up from Old Mexico, passing behind Whetstone peak, around Point of Rocks mountain and passed Lordsburg, returning to Old Mexico by going west of Shakespear. This entire band, considered the very worst family of Apaches, number about 100 fighting men. Only a small portion participated in the recent raid. These traveled from seventy-five to 100 miles a day. They were wholly unincumbered and stole fresh horses as those they were riding tired. In this way it was utterly impossible for the troops to come up with them. These Indians, the general said, are the best scouts in the west and always keep themselves well informed of the movements of the soldiers. They are well armed and seem to have an unfailing supply of ammunition. They know every foot of country and find no difficulty in evading the soldiers. The Indian question can only be settled in the general opinion, by killing these Indians off, one at a time, as they are run down.
